Yes Sir, Appomattox is growing.

Mr. James Drury Moses

Mr. James Drury Moses died at his home near here Sunday morning, January 19, following an illness of four months. He was born in Appomattox County on the 4th day of April, 1871, son of the late Charles Thomas and Mary Walker Woodson Moses. He operated a large dairy farm and was an active and devoted citizen. He was a member of Liberty Baptist Church. In addition to his wife, the former Miss Carrie Walton, he is survived by three brothers, T. W. W. A. and L. M. Moses, all of Appomattox.

Funeral services were held Monday at 2:30 P. M., conducted by Rev. J. M. Walker and Rev. P. M. Lucas. Active pallbearers were G. T. Mosley, J. E. Jamerson, Raymond Jamerson, R. W. Jamerson, C. H. Pulliam and Hunter Moses.

MR. H. H. WILLIAMSON

Henry Harrison Williamson, 60, died suddenly at his home here on Tuesday night. He was born in Appomattox County, son of the late W. H. and Lennie Gordon Williamson. He is survived by his wife and four sons, James Williamson, Concord Depot; Andrew Williamson, of Lynchburg; Richard Williamson, of Lynchburg; four daughters, Lewis S. McCormick, Jr., of Petersburg; E. T. Stanley and Mrs. R. L. Bass, of Appomattox; and Mrs. W. J. Gilliam, of San Francisco, Calif. He also leaves one brother, William Williamson, and one sister, Mrs. Robert Wooten, of Appomattox.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 from the Liberty Baptist Church, conducted by the Rev. J. Marshall Walker.

Active pallbearers were: Robertson, Dan Gull, Ryland M. Mann and Robert Wooten.

Uncle Sam Says

Geese whiz, everyone should have been with us Saturday night when a lot of us young people dropped in to help Verta Martin celebrate her fifteenth birthday. Everything went off just fine, especially for the "puppy lovers" going fishing. We noticed that Verta was wearing a garbina that "Mr." Johnson gave her.

Who can tell what the subject is that Dave and Holly are always discussing? It looks as though it would be rather interesting.

Whenever one of our classmates is absent from school we miss them a bit, but it is as much as though Carl Seavally because when Ann is absent.

We hear that Mr. Lusardi's physics class is studying magnetism. From the way we hear our friends talk it must be a very interesting discussion.

Look at next week, same time, same place, and see more about A. H. S. Until then, good-bye, pals!

SPOUT SPRING, T. A.

The Spout Spring T. A. met last Tuesday night. The P. T. A. had a busy time in December to raise funds for a new stove for the lunch room. The stove is now in use, and the P. T. A. wishes to thank all who helped. The regular meeting date has been changed to second Monday night.

APPOMATTOX GROWING ...

(Number Three of a Series)

Shown in today's pictorial presentation of Appomattox as a growing town, are a group of scenes at a new residential development just outside the corporate limits. Col. William M. Coleman, with W. C. Ould as contractor, have taken the lead in planning and building new residences on the Evergreen Road, just beyond the junction of G. F. Laveran. First in this group is a nice brick home, shown in one of today's pictures. A nice frame residence in the group is also shown. Several additional furnishings are indicated that the group will soon be increased. In fact, a new street, as shown, has been laid out, and ideal building sites are available.

2 Die In Fire At Evergreen

Tragedy hit a colored home near Evergreen Sunday at about 2:30 A. M., when two lives were lost in a fire which destroyed the home. The large scale secondary program, which Highway officials said brought twice as much in the way of accomplishments as during any previous year, saw special emphasis placed on the school bus and RPD routes in accordance with a resolution of the 1945 General Assembly.

Work done in Appomattox was in line with the program carried out this year in line with the Commission's goal of bringing the secondary system of the State up to all-weather standards and eventually completing the job of "getting Virginia out of the mud."

Many miles of primary and secondary routes remain to be improved, commented a Highway official, adding that considerable of the work during 1946 went into deferred maintenance, held over from wartime years. An intensified secondary road program was promoted for 1947.

Highlighting work done in Appomattox was "spot-surfacing" of nearly 50 miles of secondary roads and "spot-surfacing" 23 miles. Grading work was carried out on other roads; 325 miles of ditches put in shape to insure adequate rainy season drainage. In addition, eight new bridges were constructed on the secondary system and 15 others repaired. One mile of original hard surfacing was laid.

Nearly 20,000 tons of crushed stone, sand, gravel, and road material were used in the operations, the figures show.

Rev. Bishop

Dies in Norfolk

News has been received here of the death of the Rev. George M. Bishop, which occurred on Tuesday, January 21, at his home, 100 W. 34th St., Norfolk, Va. Mr. Bishop had been ill for several months. He will be remembered here as pastor of Memorial Methodist Church, 1900 to 1938, during which time the new Memorial Church was erected.

Funeral will be held at the Park Place Methodist Church, Norfolk, at 11 o'clock Thursday, with interment in Blandford Cemetery, in Petersburg at 2 P. M. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Josie Jenkins Bishop, a son, G. C. Bishop, of Norfolk, and one granddaughter, and several sisters.

He was retired at the last session of the Virginia Conference on account of failing health, after serving 24 years. His last pastorate was Oakliffe Church, Norfolk.

Garden Club

Judging School

The Garden Club is beginning the year with a school in judging. Mrs. G. W. Steedman, a member, who is nationally known as an authority on arrangement and judging, will be here Monday, January 27th, afternoon and evening, to conduct the school.

All members are urged to meet Mrs. Steedman at the high school cafeteria in the afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, bringing their own contributions for the monthly exhibit and any kind of evergreen they may have at hand, such as large leaf ivy, all varieties of pine, hemlock, spruce, ligustrum and holly and chickens as the subject will be design.

At the 8:00 o'clock meeting, Mrs. Steedman will conduct a school in judging. The yearly committee on judging requests each member to come prepared to take notes on the subject, as this school will supply the material for the year's judging of the monthly exhibits.
